Summary.....	48

GENERAL FUND REVENUE

Because the budget is organized by accountability centers (departments), general fund operations activities show up in a variety of locations. Funding, however, is generally from broad categories of taxes and other sources and is therefore reported in a single location.

We have seen a general decline in taxes and other revenue over the last couple of years as the economy has struggled. Our general approach is to be conservative in our estimates, then be regularly vigilant to respond to changes as they appear.

In the near future, we will attempt to draw a closer correlation between the programs funded through the General Fund and some of the specific revenues that support those programs. Typically programs and departments in the General Fund are not entirely paid for with fees attributable to direct use, like you might see in enterprise funds like water, wastewater, and solid waste. The implication is that the General Fund services provide a community-wide benefit, the cost of which is worth sharing across the entire community.
